

Portrait of those studying at the time they were surveyed

86%
Said their current studies were very or somewhat related to their associate degree, diploma, or certificate program.

Those who were currently studying were young and just over half were women.

Those studying had the following credentials:

Many were in the labour force while they studied.

Source: The 2016 Diploma, Associate Degree, and Certificate Student Outcomes Survey. See the Student Outcomes information paper: Studying Again: Former Associate Degree, Diploma, and Certificate Students Who Continue Their Education.